AAGP
Australian Association of Group Psychotherapists

Training in Group-Analytic Psychotherapy through the AAGP
Expressions of Interest

We are now calling for expressions of interest in the training programme that will be offered by the AAGP, starting in 2026.

Applications close 30 June 2025

Prerequisites

- A clinical degree within health or allied professions.
- Current or recent work in health and/or other relevant clinical settings to allow for the running of therapy groups.
- Professional indemnity insurance.

Registration with the Australian Health Practitioners Registration Authority (AHPRA) or other appropriate professional registration body, for example in Aotearoa New Zealand. This enables independent practice, and the expectation of adherence to their code of ethics and guidelines for responsible practice.

What's Involved

A Foundational Course
Intermediate Course 1
Intermediate Course 2
Qualifying Course.

Each Course includes

- 5 block weekend seminars, 3 in person and 2 online. When in person the location will rotate.
- Weekly Group Psychotherapy (in person or online)
- Weekly Group Supervision (in person or online)
- Attendance at AAGP conferences, large groups & other online opportunities.
- Conducting a supervised therapy group for the duration of the training.

Fees

The fee for the theoretical training is $7,000 per year, as at 2025.

This covers the five annual block weekend fees, Large Group fees and a reduction in the AAGP conference fees; as well as access to the journal Group Analysis.

The fees are reviewed annually.

The cost of individual group psychotherapy, and group supervision is not covered by the fee and needs to be negotiated individually with relevant practitioners.

The demands of this training programme are significant, and the rewards, for those interested in the mind and how we all function in groups, are great.
